The following clipped from the Washington Pilot (colored) of July 16 will prove self-explanatory:

On the Fourth of July Mr. E. H. Hunter, superintendent of the Metropolitan A. M. E. Sunday school (colored), visited Bethesda Park for the purpose of noting the stiractions so, largely advertised as a desirable place for picnics. So well pleased was he that he called on the president of the road to make arrangements for sufficient car facilities to take out the number that would ize. But Mr. J. E. CLOTHES FROM EUROPE.

Why American Tailors Want to Limit the Amount to Come Free of Duty. If the merchant tailors of the United States House act to limit the amount of wearing apparel and personal effects which may be admitted to this country free of duty there will probably be growling such as republicans may not care to hear. A delegation SUSPECTED ACCOMPLICE OF BERGMAN of members of the local merchant tailors' exchange was at the Capitol today endeavoring to and report on the measure in which so many Mr. Owen Owen, a member of the local com-

Mr. Owen Owen, a member of the local committee, in whose charge the bill has been placed, and a member of the national exchange press committee, in talking of the matter with a STAR reporter, said: "We are very anxious to secure action this session, for unless Congress takes decisive and immediate steps an immense amount of foreign-made clothing will be brought here this fall by the multitude now in Europe. People who have never given the proposed legislation any thought will, be surprised to learn that if the bill becomes law American tailors will handle additional business to the extent of $20,000 annually. This money, if expended in this third industry in the United States and there is nothing extraordinary in our request for this legislation. Last season over one hundred thousand Americans well to Europe. Fully one-half of that number were of the male sex, and each of these bought and brought back with him at least two suits and one overgarment. The average value for every man was about $85, amounting in all to $5,250,000. This total is about one-half of what it would be if the computation were based on the American the computation were based on the American standard of European wages, and materials standard of European wages, and materials come about 50 per cent lower than they can be had on this side of the Atlantic. Therefore $10,500,000 is more like the real value, and on that amount this government through the non-collection of duties loses more than $6,000,000. Then when we remember that the board of general appraisers has decided that European tourists may bring in duty free any number of garments it is not unreasonable to suppose that not less than $20,000,000 of garments made in Europe will be imported without duty during the next six months.

"It is rather surprising that the trade has not taken the matter up sooner, for it is one of

taken the matter up sooner, for it is one of great importance. So far there has been no great importance. So far there has been no suspicion of politics in our effort, but if the Senste fails to follow on the action of the House comparison may be instituted, which will be to the advantage of the democratic party. Twenty-eight thousand tailors have petitioned for the passage of the bill, and of this number enough reside in New York state to turn the scale in case things should be as close as they were in 1884." be as close as they were in 1884."

CAN IT BE POSSIBLE?

Story of a Stout Old Gentleman and Rising Thermometer.

It was at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon

It was at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon when the sun was getting in his finest work on the tempers and collars of humanity and when the outpouring officeholders afforded his sizzling majesty the largest field for operations. And it was on the corner of 15th and G streets, where the atmosphere was beyond silent endurance. There were, perhaps, two dozen people waiting for cars of various sorts, among these two State Department young men, in their cool white and russet effects, and a stout old party with a green umbrella and a palmleaf fan. He was obviously as wretched as they were philoheld the blazing match under the built of the red-columned sun meter hanging on the door post, and in a moment the crimson pointer had shot from 98 to 110. A shrewd remark about weather figures by one of the wags attracted the attention of the victim, who puffed his way to the thermometer with: "I wonder how hot it

As he looked his, face grew even redder and his fan stopped its swinging. He rubbed his eyeglasses and looked again. Then he stepped back a pace and fanned the annex to his forehead on top of himself while he soliloquized:

"Well, I declare! Can it be possible? It is simply remarkable!"

At this, one of the jokers addressed him, gravely asking: "Are you in distress, sir? Can I do anything for you?"

"Nothing, sir, thank you, beyond looking at that thermometer and telling me how high it is."

The coming diplomat bent over to look, and, as he did so, he touched the bulb with his cigarette, so that the lost ground was regained.

"One hundred and ten, sir," he replied. "Gracious goodness, do you mean it? Well, sir, I have lived in Washington for twenty-five years and never before have I known it to be so hot. It is alarming. I must report this to the weather bureau," and he waddled out to a Georgetown car while the State Department young men went around the corner to hide their hilarity in a couple of glasses.

In a search of Bauer's house in Allegheny the police found a breech-loading gun, a bulldog revolver, several packages of cartridges of twenty-two to forty-four caliber, several peculiar-looking articles, shaped something like a half-flattened marble and with a string in the end, believed to be powerful explosives; numerous books on anarchy, anarchistic literature, papers, pictures of the Chicago anarchists. So much has been evident by the attempt upon the life of Henry C. Frick and the subsequent developments that have come to the surface. Large numbers of ciphers and cipher communications which were brought to light indicated the existence of a general and secret mode of communication. One of these ciphers inclosed in an envelope, bearing a New York date, appeared to be based on the Hebrew alphabet. This appeared to dovetail with a second that appeared to be simply a combination of unintelligible scrawls, and this, by figures on its back, was apparently a key to a third, in the form of an ingenious geometrical chart, with numerous curves, each different from the other.

ANARCHISTS IN PITTSBURG.

Five police officers this morning arrested in Allegheny Henry Bauer, the head center of the of Saturday last.

For sometime past the socialist and anarchist elements of Allegheny have been keeping under cover, and the authorities had flattered themselves that their vigilance for the past two years had been rewarded, and that their desire for mischief had abated.

Then have been rewarded for the past two years have been rewarded for the past two years have been rewarded.

A linen railroad map of the United States had upon it three marks intended to indicate air lines between New York and Chicago, and these were marked at intervals with figures, which related to cipher words on the back. So extensive was the supply of anarchistic literature found in the place as to indicate that it must have been used as headquarters for the distribution of this dangerous stuff through the country. There were numerous copies of Freedom, a rabid anarchistic sheet emanating from Chicago and edited by Mrs. Parsons, the notorious dusky relic of the executed anarchist. The paper was filled with matter bloodthirsty and bombastic, some of the articles calling upon anarchists to pull down the wage question and wage slavery. One copy contained a letter and wage slavery. One copy contained a letter from a local anarchist telling Mrs. Parsons that through the night his condition was fairly ent isfactory. He slept most of the night and awoke this morning refreshed and cheerful. No dangerous symptoms have developed and dangerous symptoms have developed and danger is believed to be over, unless some unexpected complications should arise. Mr. Frick's physicians are entirely satisfied with the condition of the patient.

The officials of the company intend to show that they are capable of taking care of the present situation even with Mr. Carnegie away and Mr. Frick disabled. Today Mr. Lovejoy said: "Mr. Carnegie will not come here usell we send for him. He cabled asking if his pessence was needed and we answered that it was not that we were in good shape and that it was not necessary for him to come."

Mr. Carnegie was away from a telegraph station and did not learn of the shooting till yesterday. The Homestead Mills is receiving most of the attention from the officials of the Carnegie Steel Co., and already there are a large number of men at work.

Mr. Lovejoy added: "There are almost some now at work in the Homestead mill, and of these a good many are skilled workmen. The work being turned out is entirely astisfactory and the plate being rolled is first-class in every particular. I have no complaints to make about the work and the men we have already could not be better. More men will be sent up today. I really do not know how many, and these, as all have been, will be selected from the large number of applications we have on file."

ACCESSORY TO THE FRICK ASSAULT. F. Mollick, a Long Branch Baker, Suspected of Complicity.

Long Branch, July 26 .- The police here received a report from Superintendent O'Mers of the Pittsburg police to arrest F. Mollick, charged Perrissure, July 26. - Anarchy in the United with being an accessory in the attempted assessment will, be surprised to learn that if the bill becomes law American tailors will handle additional business to the extent of $20,000 annually. This money, if expended in this country, would give employment to nearly 7,000 journeymen.

"We feel as though we were entitled to a reasonable degree of protection. Ours is the third industry in the United States and there is nothing extraordinary in our request for this legislation. Last season over one hundred thousand Americans wells to Europe. Fully one-half of that number were of the male sex, and each of these bought and brought back with him at least two suits and brought back with him at least two suits and confidence in the United States is not dead. It is not even sleeping. Its high priests are just as wide awake, just as venomous in their ramifications and perhaps more so than they have ever been. The lesson and warning afforded the element by the execution of Spies, Parsons and their associates and by the repeated prosecutions and convictions of last week Mollick, as he called himself, sent to the Adams express edice and sent a mosey is as much a thing of life as over.

An important arrest.

Five police officers this morning arrested in this country, would give employment to nearly 7,000 as a journeyman baker by J. J. Heidel, a confectioner of this piace. St. Paul, July 26.-During a lecture at the the Rev. Joseph Cook said yesterday regarding the Homestead trouble: "The shooting of Frick is a severe blow to the Amaigamated Association, and will result in ending the strike. My sympathies have al-ways been with the workmen, but not with the defiance of law. The strikers' great mistake was their tyrauny against the non-union men. The opposition to the right of private contract is unfair, and this action of the strikers toward the non-union men is a tyranny worse than King George ever applied to the country. We are allow to deal with these outrages and we may wait and have waited until the elevalth hour and afty-ninth minute, but in the twelfth hour
